GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

A Proper Measure

CHICAGO, Nov 11.—The city council to-night adopted an ordinance prohibiting the sale in the city of milk obtained from swill fed cows. This has been a crying evil, as cows fed with distillery slops do not give milk fit for use and yet this is sold largely to poor people.

Charges against Chin Foo, the Chinese Lecturer

The Chinese residents had a meeting to-night and decided to advise the Chinese six companies of San Francisco that Wong Chin Foo, who is lecturing here on the doctrines of Confucius, is a bad man who was driven from China for his crimes and that he should properly be returned to China and receive the extreme penalty of the law. Mr [illegible], who is an extremely well educated and talented man, writes a letter to the papers confessing that his intrigues in Chinese official circles caused him to leave the celestial empire, and stating that he has little fear of extradition as he is a naturalized citizen of the United States.

The Result in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The official canvass goes throughout the state to-day. Meanwhile the democrats claim the election of their lieutenant governor and one or two other state officers while republicans claim the entire ticket, except one.

A Scandal, and Several Murders Resulting from it.

ST. PAUL, Nov 11.—A special from St Cloud says that John Walde of the town of Ward having alienated the affections of a Mrs John Coldale, a neighbor's wife, had his house burned by the scandalized women of the place. Walde laid the burning to Coldale and he, with his brother, murdered Coldale and a friend of his in cold blood, and were arrested on suspicion, but a mob took the law into their own hands and hung Walde and at last accounts were about to hang his brother.

Death of Rear Admiral Kilty.

BALTIMORE, Nov 11.—Rear Admiral Augustus H. Kilty, U S navy, died yesterday at his residence in this city, aged 72 years.

WASHINGTON, Nov 11.—An official announcement of the death of Rear Admiral Augustus H. Kilty was issued by the secretary of the navy to-day.

Financial Movement

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The Post says that up to noon to-day the assistant treasurer at this city had paid on account $10 000 000 of U S bonds bought for a sinking fund $8,246,-[illegible]. As the whole amount is to be paid in gold and in the ordinary way would have to be transferred bodily from the sub treasury to the banks through the clearing house, the association have asked the secretary of the treasury permission to store the money in one of the sub-treasury vaults which was built for the accommodation of silver until such time as the Bank of America can complete arrangements for acting as a storehouse for gold, against which certificates of deposit are to be issued for clearing house settlements.

Shot and Killed.

[illegible], Md., Nov. 11.—Wm. H. Farrow, recently elected county commissioner of Worcester county, was shot and instantly killed to-day by J. Wesley Turpin during a quarrel.

Death of a Millionaire

[illegible], Ills., Nov 11.—Robert Davis, the millionaire, at San Antonio, Texas, died this morning of consumption. He was the wealthiest man in Marshall county, owning an undivided estate, which he leaves to his wife and two daughters.

A Perfectly Seaworthy Vessel Abandoned in Mid-Ocean by her Crew.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—Capt Flaherty, of the steamer Zealand, arrived from Antwerp to-day and reports that on November 8th he fell in with the bark Royal Arch, of Sunderland, which had been abandoned by the crew. The bark when found by the Zealand was loaded with salt and general merchandise and her masts and rigging were all in good shape. She had but two or three feet of water in her hold and her pumps were in good working order. Captain Flaherty could not tell from what point the bark sailed, nor what her destination, and no reason can be assigned for her abandonment by her crew. A volunteer crew was put on board of her, and Captain Flaherty directed them to take the bark to New York.

Desperate Fight with Indians.

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 11.—A desperate fight took place yesterday at Candlearia Mountains, 30 miles south from here in the state of Chihuahua, Mexico, between a large band of Indians (about 200) and a party of 50 men from Carrizal, New Mexico, 30 of whom were killed and 18 escaped wounded. The Indians are the same party that Major Morrow was after. They came from the Florida mountains by Gudiman's lake to the Candelaria mountains, where the party after them was ambushed by the Indians, behind rocks. The fight lasted all day.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

How the Press of Russia is Trammeled.

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—The editors of all the principal newspapers in St. Petersburg have lately been summoned to a press bureau of the ministry of the interior and instructed with reference to the conduct of their respective papers. They were informed that frequent complaints have been received from Berlin that articles in the St Petersburg papers interfered with the imperial policy and declared they must not continue in the same way. Neither Germany nor Austro Hungary, nor the relations of Russia with either of these two powers, nor France, must be discussed. England may be discussed but judiciously. These rules will be continued until the emperor's return to St. Petersburg a month hence. The Russian government proposes to establish a new official newspaper to influence public opinion. Telegrams reporting a recent interview between Beaconsfield and Schouvaloff, Russian ambassador to England, were suppressed.

Severe Criticism.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov 11.—All Russian papers have articles upon the latest steps taken at Constantinople by the British government, and in certain circles an uneasy feeling is prevailing. The Golos says: That in the event of England attempting to violate Turkish independence, and at the same time to trample on the vital interests of Russia a collision between the powers would be more imminent for the latter on the confines of Asia Minor than in the depth of Central Asia.

The Hopeless Condition of Turkey.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov 11.—There is grave reason to fear that the reckless dogged and passive resistance which has hitherto baffled the efforts of the British ambassador to Turkey will be prolonged, and that the country will continue to sink gradually as it has been for the last twelve months until a catastrophe produces a radical change in the situation.

Still Another Collision

LONDON, Nov 11.—The steamer Milanes [illegible] from Boston for this port is at Gravesend with a hole in her port bow, from collision last night off Dungeness with the Norwegian ship Bolivara, Capt [illegible], from Antwerp. Latter sank, all hands saved.

Death of an Algerian Chief

PARIS, Nov 11.—Abdul Kader, a famous Algerian chief, died at Damascus aged 72.

Settlement Commenced.

PARIS, Nov 11.—The settlement between the Banque Europeenne which has a capital of [illegible] Phillipart's operations and outside brokers began yesterday at the necessary [illegible] have been obtained from the Credit [illegible] under guarantee of a syndicate formed [illegible] outside brokers and in pledge of [illegible] thousands of the Credit Mobilier [illegible] railway offers have been [illegible] with [illegible] liquidation.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Preparations to Receive Grant

WASHINGTON, Nov 11.—Committees in behalf of Gen Grant met to-night. Judge [illegible], the chairman, stated that in pursuance of a citizens meeting, on the [illegible] ult he had selected a committee of one hundred to make preparations for the reception of Gen Grant when he should visit Washington. In forming this committee he said he had endeavored to appoint gentlemen who represented the business interests of the city. The committee was empowered to communicate with the general, inviting him to Washington and requesting that he name the date at which he may be expected.

BEACONSFIELD SPEAKS

The Lord Mayor's Banquet and Procession—An Incident—Beaconsfield Talks about Home Affairs, Irish Relations and other Matters.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

LONDON, Nov 11.—The lord mayor's procession turned out to be of usual character in composition and incident. The exception was that the crowd along the entire route vigorously hissed the ex-mayor. At the lord mayor's banquet yesterday Earl Beaconsfield, referring to the condition of the country, said that trade which was a great index of prosperity has been unable to [illegible] The rise in value of silver would in all probability release British states [illegible] from their great perplexities. During a period of unprecedented depression there has not been a single meeting to express discontent with national institutions. He wished our Irish fellow brethren in Ireland would be a little more emulous of this example. He was at a loss to comprehend how Irish people have brought themselves to believe that the best remedy for economical distress was political agitation and social confusion. [Loud laughter and cheers.] Doubtless there were portions of Ireland where there would be considerable suffering if a remedy was not offered. The Irish people should remember that they never appealed to English sympathy in vain. It would be the duty of her majesty's ministers to watch the condition of Ireland with the anxiety required by its situation. The Irish people should condescend to remember that their harvest, though bad and though they were much more dependent upon it than the English people on theirs, still was much better than the harvest of England.

Addressing the lord mayor Lord Beaconsfield said:

I addressed your predecessor. I informed him that the government was contemplating large military operations in Central Asia, the object being to strengthen and to render secure the northern boundary of the Indian empire. These operations have been signally successful, and British influence is fully established in Central Asia.

Here Lord Beaconsfield warmly eulogized Lord Lytton and the army in Afghanistan. Referring to South Africa he said:

The recent war there has taught the colonists something of the art of self defense on which they must chiefly rely. We are about to effect some changes there which will contribute to increase the happiness of the population among which the colonists dwell. If I view external relations generally, I would say, notwithstanding that Europe may be covered with millions of armed men, we have not merely a hope, but believe that peace will be maintained. In assuming that peace will be maintained I assume that no great power would shrink from its responsibility. If the most extensive and wealthiest empire in the world with a perverse interpretation of its insular character, turns an indifferent ear to the feelings and fortunes of continental Europe I believe that the country is endangered. It is to such indifference that I attribute many fatal wars. But if the power and advice of England are felt and heard in the councils of Europe, I have a conviction that peace will be maintained for a long period. If England deserts her natural post in the councils of Europe war is too probable. A celebrated Roman being asked what his policy was, replied, "Imperium et Libertas." That is a short programme, but it would not disgrace a British minister. It is one on which the existing ministry will always act. In proposing your lordship's health, I shall this time next year, in all probability, have the pleasure to congratulate you on your skillful administration.

THE NORTHWEST.

Western Oregon.

Capt. C W Tracy raised this year 135 pounds of potatoes from two and one-half pounds of seed.

The grand jury in session last week at Eugene returned true bills of indictment against seven merchants of that city for selling goods on Sunday. This action is said to have been prompted by the saloon keepers, many of whom have been brought up with a round turn by the temperance people there for selling liquor in violation of law on Sunday.

The dead body of James McKillup was found on the 8th inst. on the farm of Mr E F Lamson, near Willamina in Yamhill county, partially buried beneath a huge pile of rails, and horribly crushed and mangled. He had been missing since about the 20th of October. In driving down a side hill with a load of rails his wagon upset and he being caught beneath it and its heavy load is supposed to have been instantly killed. The wagon still remained and attached to it was one of the horses, the other having escaped. A jury, composed of E F Lamson, James Miller, H Bailey, I N Branson, M Booth and H Lamson, was summoned by a justice of the peace, and rendered a verdict in accordance with the statements above. Mr McKillup was aged about 25 years, was a native of Ireland and was unmarried. He was industrious and thrifty and in five years residence in Yamhill county had acquired considerable property.

Eastern Oregon.

About the 20th of October some person entered the house of F Wood, at Cottonwood, and stole from Mr. P Graderman the sum of $150, $110 of the money belonged to John Ferris. No clue to the robbers.

The people of Long creek are suffering from that terrible and fatal disease, diphtheria. Several children have died, and others are not expected to live. This is about the first appearance of this dreadful scourge in Grant county.

Mr Cope of Philadelphia Pa, has four men employed about Dayville hunting for fossils. The men are under Mr Jake Workman and have found many curiosities. Mr Marsh of Yale college, also has three men engaged in the same work on the John Day below Dayville.

Southern Oregon.

Says the Jacksonville Times: A J Lewis of the Kerbyville mills turns out 6 000 pounds of flour every twenty-four hours. The mills of this portion of the state are rapidly turning the immense wheat crop into flour. Southern Oregon besides being the best mining region on the coast is also one of the greatest food producing countries on the continent. If we only had rapid and cheap transportation to the coast the Rogue river country could feed a million of people.

O'Brien's Estate.

The distribution of the estate of W S O'Brien deceased amounting to $9 000 000 which was to have taken place Aug 29th last has by the decision of the probate court rendered yesterday been indefinitely postponed, the estate being defendant in four of the suits brought by John H Burke against J C Flood and others amounting to $38 [illegible] 000. Burke filed opposition to the distribution, together with copies of complaints in all the actions pending and was demurred to by the executors and legatees of the estate. Judge Myrick of the probate court in overruling the demurrers says that sufficient appears in opposition to show that a partial distribution should not be made until the controversy as to the rights of Burke is disposed of.

Charles DeYoung in Court—An Attempt to Throw the Case Out on Technicalities.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 11.—In the municipal criminal court to-day, argument was entered upon in regard to the validity of indictments found by the last grand jury. Chas De Young was called upon to plead to the indictment found against him for assault to murder I S Kalloch. Mr Campbell who with Messrs Cohen and Lloyd, appeared for defendant, moved that the indictment be set aside on the following grounds: That certain grand jurors who were not qualified to act in the case, were present when the De Young indictment was acted upon; that after the death of Mr Cunningham there were only eighteen grand jurors, and that number did not make a grand jury; that Mr. Burton had no authority to act as foreman of the grand jury; that Juror Eggers only heard part of the evidence in De Young's case and that really only twelve found the indictment against De Young. The first ground was disproved by the testimony of H F Williams, one of the grand jury. The last one, admitted by the district attorney regarding Juror Eggers testimony, was ruled out and counsel proceeded to argue the question of there being only eighteen on the jury after the death of Cunningham.

Shot and Killed.

SAN JOSE, Nov 10.—This afternoon Joe Roderiguez an ex-convict and desperado well known to the officers of this city, was shot by Joseph Felez in front of Minch's saloon in Mayfield, the latter using a shotgun loaded with buckshot. He died soon afterward. The trouble arose from the refusal of Feliz to furnish deceased with money.

THE WALLA WALLA FALL MEETING.

Sixty-six Wins the Half Mile Running Race—Gold Foil Takes the First Trot in Three Straight Heats—Accident on the Track.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WALLA WALLA, Nov 11.—No races occurred to-day, the track being muddy from recent rain. In the half mile race yesterday between Glen Dudley, Sixty-six, and Torrent, Dudley won the first heat with ease in 50½ seconds. The second heat was greatly delayed by Dudley's fractiousness. Finally a start was effected with Torrent in the lead. Coming into the head of the home stretch, Dudley got pocketed behind the other two and in attempting to pull out and run around them he fell and threw his rider. The boy lay on the ground apparently dead for about three minutes when he arose and was taken to the stable. Mr Mauzey ascertained that his collar bone was broken. The two next heats were won by Sixty-six.

A trotting race for the 2:35 class followed, the entries being Dexter, Gold Foil, Billy Nelson, and Pedro. A protest was entered against Dexter and he withdrew and the race went on, with Gold Foil betting $10 for $5 on Nelson, and $3 on Pedro. The latter horse was distanced on the first heat, and Nelson was unable to hurt Gold Foil who won easily in three straight heats. Best time 2:41.

SILVER CITY, Nov 11.—Chas McDermott now on trial for horse stealing admits that he was one of the band of thieves who covered a large section of the Pacific coast in their operations. He states that Hank Vaughan, late of Boise City, was one of the ring leaders and that the late safe robbery in that city was planned eight months ago. McDermott says that these outlaws have allies in Utah, New Mexico and elsewhere. The operations of the gang are directed by a wealthy business man in Michigan.

CONCERNING MR BLAINE.

PORTLAND, Nov 11, 1879

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In two [illegible] comment [illegible] on the New York [illegible] of [illegible] attention to the growing strength of the independent [illegible] in the republican party which refuses to be made tools of by the machine and have [illegible] out that this element would probably defeat Conkling as well as Grant if he [illegible] the republican nomination in 1880.

But can you in while protesting and raising your voice of warning, against the nomination of Conkling or Grant advocate that of Blaine without turning a most astounding logical somersault? For the very reasons which speak against the nomination of Conkling or Grant speak as much against that of Blaine and besides these there is another stronger one brought forth against the latter.

The charge of personal corruption in money matters has, as far as I know of, never been laid at the door of Roscoe Conkling while James G Blaine stands accused and in the eyes of many republicans convicted of corrupt dealings as a legislator.

Conkling is charged mainly with sacrificing everything to his arrogant ambition and with holding by means of his machine defiance to the better element of the republican party. It is claimed and I think justly that, in order to promote his political aspirations and keep himself in power he has filled the federal offices in the state of New York with an army of devotees who are experts in the art of setting up primaries and running conventions who with few laudable exceptions deem it their first and last duty to serve Conkling and Conkling only and that he has by thus organizing the offices turned conventions as well as elections into mere farces. It is this abuse and the consequent demoralization and corruption of the public service in New York that has brought about the revolt of the youthful scratchers against the "machine."

As for Blaine, has he not a "machine" of his own running in the state of Maine? Has he not used the patronage for the furthering of his personal ends as much as any one? Has he ever in his long political career raised his voice against the spoil system or advocated a reform of our civil service thorough radical and complete? On the contrary, he has sneered at and attempted to ridicule civil service reform as much as any one of the members of the old senatorial "group." He has persistently fought and intrigued against all endeavors of the president and some members of the cabinet to inaugurate a reform of the civil service. As an instance of what may be expected of Blaine in the direction of reform I would call your attention to his vulgar and ignorant attack on Secretary Schurz on account of the endeavors of the latter to stop the timber depredations in the territories. But not only for these reasons, will the "youthful scratchers" in New York and in every other state withhold their votes from Blaine but also on account of the cloud of corruption which overshadows him. His having had control of "interests" in the N P R R, his dealings in bonds of the Kansas Pacific railroad, and his selling on commission bonds of the Arkansas & Little Rock R R Co while speaker of the house of representatives and at the time when those railroad companies obtained aid from the government, have not been explained away by his theatrical exploits of audacity or his having "muzzled the rebels" in the house. Nor has he been cleared by his opportune illness while the investigation against him was in progress or his sudden recovery after his appointment to the senate.

Those 'youthful scratchers' in New York and their kin in all other states consider Blaine not only a demagogue without principles or statesmanship but a man tainted with corruption, and they will, therefore never vote for him. They do not care to see a man possessing "magnetism" or "fighting qualities" in the presidential chair nor does audacity" or vim" win their wicked hearts. What they are striving for is a president who stands above reproach, who is a scholar and a statesman, and who keeps and always has kept in good company.

These are the facts of the case, shocking though they be to the sensibility of the average politician.

Be it as it may, those "young men" will commit "youthful indiscretions" in spite of all the warnings of the "aged" who are used to, and enjoy being kept in line by the lashes of the party whip and the great American commoner has as much to fear from their naughtiness as Conkling or General Grant. Without shame or fear as they are even the just indignation of an illustrious ex-senator of Oregon who charges them with having been led astray by their hunger for the spoils of office will not lead them back to the path of the righteous.

P SCHULZE

The Pennsylvania Election

[From the Philadelphia Times, Nov 5.]

While no intelligent observer of political events expected the democrats to succeed in either city or state yesterday, nobody calculated on such a sweeping republican victory. The political tide was all one way in Pennsylvania, as it has been generally elsewhere. There is disgust with democratic leadership in the state and nation, in congress and out of it in the north and in the south, and the only substantial achievement of the present democratic congress seems to be the complete consolidation of the wavering republican lines. The conservative republicans, the scratchers who love to scratch because it is respectable to do it, the disgruntled republicans who have reveled in cussedness for years past, the stay-at-home republicans who defy the efforts of politicians to stir them out to the polls, all these voted yesterday with a vim, because they are undergoing a regular siege of the political measles, taken from the real or imaginary disloyalty of the south. So were the solid elements of republicanism—the merchants, the bankers, the manufacturers and the business men generally, any less active and united in the support of republicanism. These are the classes which usually fail on an off year and they are the classes most difficult to drag out in any but national or specially exciting state contests, but they [illegible] voluntarily yesterday [illegible] Butler, Martin and the Taylor [illegible] to settle in some not exactly comprehensible way an undefined and not exactly comprehensible sectional issue with the south.

Manufacturing in England.

Albert N. Shaw, United States consul at Manchester, in answer to the question "What is your opinion of the future prospects of manufacturers in England?" says:

Knowing as I do the almost limitless resources of the United States in raw materials, I naturally incline to the opinion that American enterprise, backed by adequate cheap capital, will be equal to the future and that our raw materials, so wonderfully distributed over our vast continent will be manufactured cheapest near the place of production. The genius of American inventors coupled with cheap lands and cheap food, certainly place us in a favorable position for winning the race in the inter oceanic contest for the controlling position in manufactures. In answer to other questions Shaw said: Beer is the great curse of the poorer classes in England. It deadens the moral and physical forces, and at the same time robs them of much of their earnings. This drink question is a serious one at present. In England once an operative as a rule always an operative. In the matter of placing American farm products the consul said: If shipments were made to responsible houses interested in produce where sales would be made under their guarantee as to quality and condition a great improvement will follow. I have known fifty packages of American butter to be sold at auction at 16 cents a pound, forty packages of which a week later were resold by the purchaser for 28 cents a pound and the price of butter had not advanced in the general market in the meantime. This dealer sent the butter to his warehouse, carefully assorted it and branded it with his firm name and made a handsome profit simply because he became responsible for the quality of the same.

AMERICAN SHIPPING INTERESTS

Had the [illegible] by congress during the last two sessions been wise enough to let alone the trumped up issue of bayonets at the polls on which all the political passions were waked and the whole [illegible] wasted and turned their attention to the navigation laws of the country with a view to [illegible] these relics of ignorance and [illegible] them from the statute book and substituting for them a policy in accord with the requirements of modern commerce and civilization they would have done an excellent [illegible] for the country and at the same time would have avoided the pitfall into which they have fallen. Perhaps the [illegible] would have won the recent elections but they would not have been so utterly overwhelmed as they have been in consequence of having raised the ghost of the rebellion and flaunted the solid south with its state supremacy theories in the face of the country.

In 1861 the registered shipping of the United States engaged in foreign trade was [illegible] tons, that of Great Britain was [illegible] tons. But by 18[illegible] the registered shipping of the United States engaged in foreign trade had diminished to 1,611,[illegible] tons while that of Great Britain had increased to 4,858,[illegible] tons. The difference which in 1861 was only 682,789 tons had increased to 3,[illegible] tons by 187[illegible]. We have not the figures at hand for comparison since the year 1877 but it is certain that Great Britain continues to leave us further and further behind.

The great reason why this is so is to be found in the fact that during the last fifteen years there have been great changes in ship building and our antiquated and prohibitory navigation laws prevent us from taking advantage of them. In the days of wooden ship building the United States gained rapidly on England in the rivalry for the ocean carrying trade. When the rebellion broke out American goods sought the British flag for safety and by the time the rebellion had closed the revolution in ship building had begun. There was an end to the demand for wooden ships for trade across the seas and our country sat down in helplessness while Great Britain pushed the building of iron ships to do the ocean carrying trade of the world. No iron ship was built in the United States till 1868 and by that time the commercial steam navy of Great Britain built almost wholly of iron and engaged exclusively in the foreign trade was over 819,000 tons. In 1877 it was 1,627,000 tons. The aggregate tonnage of all the iron steamers built in the United States up to the end of the fiscal year 1875 was 205,636 tons, including boats and ships of all classes.

Now we cannot possibly build these ships at so low a rate by twenty five per cent as they may be built in Great Britain. Consequently, except for our coasting trade, in which foreign vessels are not permitted to engage we do not build them at all. Hence the foreigner gets the profits of our foreign carrying trade all to himself. But if our citizens could buy ships built abroad and sail them under American registry we should rapidly recover our foreign carrying trade and make the enormous profits which now go mainly into English pockets. If it be said that the privilege of buying ships abroad would destroy even the little remnant of our ship-building industry at home the answer is that only a few persons, comparatively are engaged in this industry and that their number is insignificant compared with the multitudes who are interested in the cargoes which ships transport to distant markets.

For many years prior to 1861 our laws which deny American registry to foreign built ships and which therefore forbid the purchase of such ships by our citizens did not seriously affect our ocean commerce, because the carrying trade was done in wooden ships and the United States had superior advantages for building them. But since iron vessels have been driving wooden ones from the sea the injury which these laws have inflicted upon our carrying trade and the general industries of the country has been incalculable. Great Britain was the pioneer in iron ship building and her shipyards have been ready to supply the demands of the world's commerce while American shipyards have been unprepared to supply the ships necessary to transport the products of our own fields and workshops to foreign markets. Thus have we presented the anomalous spectacle of a people languishing in the over productions of their own industries, unable to build ships, forbidden to buy them, and compelled to await the coming and going of foreign fleets and foreign merchants to develop their own trade.

Long as the proper remedy has been delayed by congress it is not yet too late. If that body will cease its bosh about federal bayonets and come to this business it will do the country a real service. Citizens of Oregon might then buy ships and make the profits of carrying their own products to market.

CONCERNING MR BLAINE

It is a custom with THE OREGONIAN founded on principle, to give every person who seeks it a respectful hearing through its columns provided only that the matter submitted be of sufficient public interest to justify such consideration. Therefore we print a letter written by Mr P Schulze concerning Mr Blaine and the presidency. The letter bears a tone of rather heated remonstrance with THE OREGONIAN for not expressly declaring that Mr Blaine is one who equally with General Grant or Mr Conkling would fail to get the whole republican vote, and one who moreover is unfit to be president. THE OREGONIAN is no special advocate of Mr Blaine for the presidency but it will say that neither of these assertions is apparent to its observation or judgment. Mr Blaine is not now nor ever was a part of the so-called Grant Conkling machine. The Grant administration with all its power was solid against him in 1876 and it defeated his nomination. In his state he has not alienated from his party a great body of republicans as Conkling has done in New York nor has he insisted on the nomination of candidates to insult and punish his opponents and rebuke the administration. There has been a defection from the republican party in Maine on the greenback question as there also was in Iowa and other states a year or two ago. But this has about run its course. It is not a revolt against Mr Blaine whose course in his party has always been conciliatory towards those who have differed with [illegible]. As a leader his methods are the exact reverse of the arrogant [illegible] dictatorial methods of Mr Conkling. It is true that Mr Blaine is not a hero on [illegible] never a reformer. He has [illegible] the president [illegible] an [illegible] partial eff[illegible] [illegible] there any [illegible] nated [illegible] public [illegible] Nowhere [illegible] to him compared with that [illegible] toward Mr Conkling in New York and other states. [illegible] it is true to say that no other [illegible] produces among the republicans of the whole country a [illegible] The accusation of corrupt dealings as a legislator is based on the means which [illegible] employed to defeat him for the nomination in 1876. At any other time the methods they took would have been deemed [illegible] and [illegible] able and the disclosures over which so great an uproar arose would have attracted [illegible] no attention. The affair of the Mulligan letters was made so much of [illegible] for what was in them but because at [illegible] enemies [illegible] take anything of the kind as a [illegible] deed and make the most of it. Fair minded men can [illegible] but regard the whole proceeding as a despicable assault [illegible] despicable [illegible] and principle. But from the tenacity with which Mr Blaine is supported by his own state as well as from the manner in which he is spoken of by the press and greeted wherever he goes it would not appear that he has suffered in the general esteem of his countrymen on account of this charge of personal corruption. We [illegible] know [illegible] Blaine and Secretary Schurz are [illegible] of each other but this is not a [illegible] which greatly concerns any large number of the American people. Mr Schurz is a very considerable man but it is not unlikely that the government of the United States could sustain itself even without him. As for Mr Blaine's attack on Secretary Schurz the former was clearly in the right. The secretary theorist and dreamer as he is though undoubtedly a man of honest purposes was actually prosecuting as "timber thieves" the settlers in Montana who were using wood cut from government land as fuel to keep their families from perishing in winter. They could not buy the wood because the land had never been surveyed and as they didn't purpose to freeze they took the wood where they could find it as was proper enough. That Mr Blaine spoke severely of the course of Mr Schurz in this matter we cannot think a very strong argument against him. If government neglects to survey the lands so that people can buy wood they must and will take it and it is right to do so that is to the extent of necessary use. They must have the wood or abandon the territories. But these remarks on special points raised by Mr Schulze's letter need not be continued. There is an evident pique in the tone of his letter which it is pretty manifest will not be reasoned with. Doubtless we should find here and there an independent citizen who would scratch any possible candidate. That is the glorious right of the American voter. But close and practical observers see no reason to infer that Mr Blaine would be scratched as Mr Conkling or Gen Grant pretty certainly would be. The very fact that the "machine" opposes and has steadily opposed him would of itself be very likely to bring to his support those who revolted in the recent election in New York. THE OREGONIAN is not presenting Mr Blaine as an ideal statesman for the ideal statesman is a rare person and never would be fit for human affairs in any capacity but Mr Blaine has qualities which are admired by millions of his countrymen and he has to day more followers than any political leader in America. Mere spiteful defamation of such a man is useless. He may never be president but should he be the candidate he would not encounter the opposition of the class who have refused to vote at the dictation of Mr Conkling.

REDUCED SILVER YIELD

Silver mining in Nevada is unquestionably a declining industry. The Alta says the state produced $35,000,000 in 1878 and will probably not reach $22,000,000 in 1879. The great bonanza in the Consolidated Virginia and California is nearly exhausted. Those two mines each turned out $1,500,000 a month for a long time and now not one-tenth so much. The Eureka Consolidated has of late been the leading mine of the slope yielding nearly $200,000 monthly and more than $1,000,000 have flowed from the furnace of Eureka in a single month so that it would hardly be surprising if when the accounts of the year are closed up the district should be ahead of the Comstock in the treasure yield. White Pine and Pioche are still very much depressed. Bodie continues to hold a high place in public esteem, and high hopes are entertained of the Mammoth district but its mines are not opened sufficiently to produce much. If every mineral hole in Nevada were filled up and the demoralization of business which have resulted from wild speculations in them were forever at an end the result would be of incalculable benefit to the whole Pacific coast. But as that can't happen the less the production of the mines the better. For the less they produce the less the people will lose through wild speculation and the less will be the opportunity of sharpers to rob them.

Hendrick B Wright and his junketing committee cost the people of the United States over seven thousand dollars. True, this coarse and ignorant demagogue and his companions had a jolly good time of it but was it fair to take money out of the United States treasury for their summer's pleasure excursion across the continent? If some poor devil of a clerk had stolen a handful of pennies he would be in jail for the theft, but congressmen can thrust their hands into the national money chest because they have the power and it is all right in their own estimation. Wright's committee was a fraud of the first class. It had even greater eminence in this line than the average committee even this remark fails to do justice to it.

Gov Thayer's thanksgiving proclamation is a repetition of the similar singular document which emanated from the same source last year. It is remarkably lean and evidently was issued only in a perfunctory way. His excellency designates Thursday Nov 27th as a day of thanksgiving in accordance with an established custom but doesn't intimate that thanks are to be returned to anybody for anything. We would suggest an addition to the governor's signature attached to this paper so that it might read "W W Thayer Governor of Oregon Parcus Deorum Cultor et Infrequens" for which his excellency may overhaul his Horace.

Of the Cinchona plant from the bark of which quinine is made thirty millions have been set out in Ceylon during the present year and it is estimated that in five years there will be fifty millions of growing cinchona trees in that island. Cinchona cultivation is also making rapid strides in Java and various parts of India and it is believed the time is not far distant when the article of quinine will be sold at one third its present value and the consumption vastly increased.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 12, 1879

CITY.

Painful Accident to J. H. Tomlinson.—J. Harry Tomlinson, a well known and popular commercial traveler of San Francisco, met with a serious accident at the depot of the O. & C. R. R. at Roseburg last Friday evening. At the south end of the depot there is an opening in the platform extending about twenty feet long and five feet wide, with no railing or guard of any kind, and no light. In getting off the train, on the night mentioned, it being very dark, Mr. Tomlinson stepped off one side of the opening, struck against the edge of the plank on the other side and fell to the ground, a distance of seven feet. His collar bone was fractured, and the right upper rib broken, a portion penetrating the lung and causing profuse hemorrhage. He also sustained severe internal injuries about the kidneys. Mr. Tomlinson was removed to this city Monday and taken to the St. Charles Hotel, where he has the best medical treatment and careful nursing. His injuries, although attended with excruciating pain, intensified by occasional coughing, are not considered dangerous.

The Monumental Mine.—Some interesting facts concerning this mine have been obtained from a gentleman of this city, who returned a few days ago from Grant county. On the 3d instant a ten-stamp quartz mill started up and is at present in full operation. The mill is in excellent working order and is doing some good work. There are about 75 men employed in and around the mine. The tunnel has been extended for nearly one half mile. Between 300 and 400 tons of rich ore are lying at the mouth of the tunnel, and is estimated to be worth $60,000 when worked. The machinery of the mill is driven by steam power, which is quite cheap, as an abundance of wood can be obtained near the mine. A clean-up will be made soon, and we may reasonably expect a shower of silver bricks down this way ere long. The company have opened a good road to the mine, over which the machinery has been hauled. The outlook is very encouraging for this mine, and the company, which is composed principally of prominent business men of Portland, great credit is due for the energy and will with which the enterprise has been pushed.

Large Contract.—The Telegram says: "A street contract is now being done by William Sweeny for the west side railroad company. The work is on Fourth street, and extends from Taylor to G, and the contract price runs into the thousands—it being the largest single piece of street contracting of which we have had any knowledge for some time. Mr. Sweeny is macadamizing the street twenty inches deep, and the ties of the railroad are laid on eight inches of macadam. The ties are being ballasted up with fine gravel, and after the completion of Sweeney's work it is expected that no more work will be needed on that portion of Fourth street for years. During the process of the work it became necessary to remove the track, and Mr. Sweeny changed the ties and rails and macadamized and prepared the road bed for them in two and one half days, and had the track moved to its new bed in that time, Sweeney employing fifty men during the time he was engaged in removing and returning the track."

An Oregon Boy Complimented.—In a recent number of the San Francisco Call appears the following paragraph: "Mr. Ben. Teal appeared at the Shakesperian Booth, as Gloster in 'Richard III.'—selecting the first scene of the second act—the courtship scene. He was supported by Miss Alice Kingsbury as Lady Anne, who was very efficient in her art. Of Mr. Teal's Richard, the general opinion is that it was a performance of rare merit and worthy of the most exacting legitimate stage. Mr. Teal is a close student of Shakespeare, and for all who prove themselves apt interpreters of the immortal text we have great respect and even a warmer sentiment. He had a singularly clear conception of the crooked back tyrant, his hypocrisy, cruelty and heartlessness." The same paper speaks in terms of warm commendation of Mr. Teal's "Iago."

Y. M. C. A. Meetings.—The meeting at the hall last night was led by Hon. L. Allen Mason, and was one of deep interest. To-night the subject is, "A Man Prospered [illegible] President, but Unsuccessful." It is hoped that there will be an increased attendance. The inclemency of the weather has no doubt kept many from attending. Singing exercises will begin promptly at 7:30 P. M. Services in the hall will begin fifteen minutes later.

Pinafore at Salem.—There is already the largest take of reserved seats that has been seen for many a day. If the company meet with the success they deserve they may be induced to play a second night, giving "Pinafore." Mr. Maguire is in receipt of several letters from other points, begging the good ship "Pinafore" would visit their various ports.

[illegible] Date.—This week, Friday evening, a rare literary and musical programme will be given at the Congregational church. Prof. F. Lee Chauvin will give some of his best elocutionary and dramatic renditions, in addition to some excellent music by Prof. Cook's choir, Mrs. Otuzan and others of Portland's best musicians, will sing.

From Astoria.—The following dispatch was received yesterday at Merchants' Exchange: Steamer State of California crossed out at 9:30 A. M. 1:30 P. M.—Str Geo. W. Elder arrived at 10 A. M. and left for Portland at 11:15 A. M.; British ship City of Halifax arrived in; British ship Sarmatian and bark [illegible] of Bute are in Baker's bay.

The Zorota Disabled.—A dispatch received last night states that the British bark Zorota, which left Astoria for Cork on the 8th ult., laden with 12,000 centals wheat, had put into San Francisco, that she was leaking and that her pumps were choked with wheat.

Appointed Teacher.—Miss Mary E. Test, graduate of the class of 1878, has received the appointment of supernumerary teacher in the public schools, in place of Mrs. Ida H. Vaughn, resigned.

U. S. Circuit Court.—Judge Deady will announce an opinion in this court this morning in the case of Bank of British North America vs M. M. Ellis et al.

Alpha Society Meeting.—A meeting of the Alpha Literary Society will be held to-night at the residence of Mr. Coombs on Eighth and Hall streets.

"REMEMBER THE POOR."

As thanksgiving day approaches let us not forget, while around our bountiful boards, the poor and needy in our midst, whose lot it is our duty or privilege to lighten. The ladies of the "Relief Society," encouraged by the generous response to their appeal last year, propose adopting the same course this year for the support of their "Home." Bags will be left at each house, to be filled with such gifts as every one feels inclined to bestow. Notice will be given at a future day as to how these bags will be gathered in.

STILL STEADILY STEPPING.

Tramp, tramp, tramp, the girls are marching.
Night and day we hear them at the halls.

The interest in the walking match at Turn Halle is decidedly on the increase and the crowd last night was a large increase over Monday evening and included many ladies. The vitality of Misses Alice Donley and Lillie Denman is simply wonderful. All day and all night long they appeared at their allotted quarter hours cheerful and smiling and walked the seven laps in the average time of a little less than three minutes. Both had slept well for the five hours preceding daylight, and were very much refreshed. That any one would be able to sleep soundly and walk at the same time is scarcely to be believed except by actual observation. Those who care to witness this novel sight can do so any hour during the match from midnight until 5 A. M.

The quarter mile contestants are cared for by a married sister of the Misses Donley, and their respective trainers. They do not diet, but eat anything they like and whenever they are hungry. Both drink tea and coffee, and occasionally a glass of sherry with a raw egg. Neither one of the ladies has as yet suffered from blistered feet or swelled joints, but towards midnight they feel fatigued from the hips down to the toes, which wears off by morning.

At 7:52 P. M. Miss Denman walked her 266th quarter in 2:20, and her 280th in 2:25 amid great applause. At 8 o'clock Emmet Fitzgerald, who is a slender beardless boy of nineteen, walked a mile, square heel and toe in nine minutes. At 8:15 Miss Sherman gave a five-mile "go as you please" exhibition, which she finished in 56:30—first mile, 8:30; second, 11:15; third, 10:10; fourth, 8; fifth, 11:40. During her first and fourth miles she was frequently applauded.

At 9:30 the race between Fitzgerald and Richard Beale was announced. On account of lameness in his left leg which came late in the afternoon, Mr. Beale was able to run only one mile, although he expected to be able to make three as was announced from the stage. Both started out at a wonderfully fast gait, Fitzgerald gradually gaining and leading his opponent one lap at three quarters of a mile. Here he made a spurt and gained half of a second lap in less than 150 feet. He kept this lead to the mile, when Beale surrendered, his lameness having become too painful. Fitzgerald made the mile in 5:50½. Beale 31 seconds slower.

At 10:15, Miss Alice Donley made her 300th quarter in 2:16, and Miss Denman at 10:52, her 300th quarter in 2:07, both amid vociferous cheering.

To-night A. A. Kadderly and C. Buckmeyer of this city will run five miles for $25 at Turn Halle, commencing at 9 o'clock. At 8, Miss Sadie Donley will walk five miles, and after the running match Miss Sherman will walk the same distance.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon a matinee will be given to which ladies will be admitted free. On this occasion Misses Sherman and Donley and Mr. Fitzgerald will give heel and toe exhibition walks.

At New Armory Hall.

Last evening the throng at New Armory hall far exceeded any that had been present during any previous evening of the great trial of endurance. Quite a number of ladies were among the spectators showing quite plainly that they too are beginning to manifest an interest in what seems to them to be a strange performance.

Miss Susie Wiley was in the best of spirits and walks as erect and sprightly as she did in the beginning of the race. She does not experience the least fatigue although yesterday she complained of a slight dizziness, which soon vanished, and last night she felt as good as she has since the beginning of her weary tramp. Her average time has been about 12 minutes to the mile and shows no signs of slackening that pace.

Grace Florence still continues to maintain the haughty appearance with which she started and completes her arduous task with the true grit and perseverance of an old veteran. Her staying qualities are the subject of general comment, and she excites the sympathy of all her spectators by her display. She is truly a remarkable girl, not having slept for a period of 72 hours save for 1½ hours yesterday during her walk.

To-night there will be a match walk between Miss VonBerg and an amateur walker named Wm. Duran for a purse of $50 a side. This will cause the hall to be filled, as the lady's competitor is known to be a very good 10 mile walker, and his friends aver that he can vanquish her. On the other hand the many friends of the lady are confident that she will distance him. However, the contest will be a lively display of the pedestrian abilities of both parties, and considerable money will change hands on the result. Capt. Hart will start the contestants, and well known citizens taken from the audience will act as judges and referee.

During the time the walk has been in progress, the question has been very frequently raised that 21 laps constituted more than a mile. In order to settle the question beyond doubt, Manager Blackburn yesterday employed the services of City Surveyor Chapman who, with an assistant, measured it and gave him the following certificate.

City Surveyor's Office.

This is to certify that I have this day measured the walking track at new Armory Hall and find that it is 209 feet in length, or 25¼ laps of said track to a mile.

W. B. CHAPMAN,
City Surveyor.

This caused a slight flutter of excitement and the ladies were loud in their complaints against the parties who first measured the track and by whose bungling they had been compelled to walk nearly three-eighths of a mile every time for a quarter mile. It is a matter of much importance to them, as they have already walked more than ten miles over their allotment, and if it had not have been officially measured, in the 8000 quarters it would have made a difference of 101 miles.

A brass band is nightly in attendance till a late hour and relieves the monotony usually experienced on such occasions.

The 300th quarter was completed at 10:45 P. M. Miss Wiley made the last quarter in 2 minutes 39 seconds, Miss Florence made the last quarter in 3 minute and 38 seconds.

Miss Von Berg walked 9 miles and ran the 10th, making the entire distance in 2 hours 8 minutes and 45 seconds.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Matinee To-day.—For those who are unable through living at a distance, etc., a special matinee of H. M. S. Pinafore will be given at 2 P. M. to-day. To-night the last performance is announced, making the eleventh performance of this most attractive opera, an unprecedented run for any piece in Portland. Now that Pinafore is at its close, it is only proper to recognize the very superior and correct manner in which the opera was dressed and mounted. John Maguire, whenever he thinks anything is worth doing well, follows this principle, and the manner in which he put on Pinafore stands on record so far as dressing and scenic effects with the production of "Queen Mary," "Davy Crockett," "Streets of New York," "Jane Shore," "Duke's Motto," "Celebrated Case," "Daniel Rochat," and many others which are pleasantly remembered by the theater goers of this city as artistic treats; which, without his enterprise, Portlanders may not have an opportunity of rejoicing in for some years to come. We learn that at the present time he is negotiating with some of the best attractions in the country, and it is to be hoped that his pecuniary success will be more substantial than during the past season. He has given to this city in the past some of the very best attractions in the land, and it is an open secret that he has done so, both at a sacrifice of money and time, for some of the ventures he made in the past brought him but heavy losses. We are tempted to make these remarks from the fact that Mr. Maguire has within the past two days received two very flattering offers to leave this city, the one to manage a theater in Nevada and the other to join as business manager a company in Chicago which is now being organized on the same principle of Rice's surprise party or the Colville folly company. Mr. Maguire has promptly declined both—giving to a reporter of this paper the following reason: "I am not working for to-day, else I would have left at the termination of last season. I am imagining Portland five years ahead. If I can maintain my position here, whatever troubles and reverses have occurred will be amply compensated for in the future. Why every manager in the country has ups and downs. Why should I be exempt from managerial quagmires?" John Maguire ought to be liberally supported by our citizens.

MURDER AT SWEET HOME.

Frank Reed Shoots and Kills his Neighbor, James Simons.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

SALEM, Nov. 11, 1879.

A fracas occurred in Sweet Home valley, Linn county, on Friday last, resulting in the death of James Simons, a well known business man of that place. It seems that a feud has long existed between himself and a party named Frank Reed. The latter was passing Simons' place of business on the day mentioned, having with him a double-barreled shot-gun heavily loaded, and took occasion to address Simons, who was at the time carrying in an armful of wood, and had in his hand a heavy cudgel. On being addressed he turned and said: "I do not desire to speak to you or any of your clique," whereupon Reed laid down his gun, and jerking off his coat, remarked, "I'll make you speak to me." Simons at the same moment throwing down his wood and advancing with the club uplifted. Reed claims that he was then compelled to defend himself, which he did by again securing his gun, and pointing it at Simons fired the shot, taking effect in the right groin, inflicting a wound from the effects of which the unfortunate man soon afterwards died. Reed is under arrest.

WM. SCHEFFLER'S ST. HELENA

SANITARY, VACUUM DISTILLED GRAPE BRANDY AND GOOD OLD EDGE HILL WINES.

Mr. Scheffler is sole proprietor of the principle known as the vacuum process of distilling, by which the fusil oils are left with the residue and not incorporated with the brandy, leaving it pure and free from all deleterious substances which does and must exist in all alcoholic liquors distilled by the usual process of boiling heat. California Physicians have pronounced their preference of it to all other. Doctor Cox, government revenue officer at Cincinnati, Ohio, says in his report, that after ten years' of close investigation he can safely say that very few, if any, pure wines or brandy are exported from the Old Continent to this. He has found none in his many analyses that are not doctored before leaving France. The French Consul at Buenos Ayres writes home to his government that so much complaint is made there of the appearance of litharge and other dangerous drugs in all their French wines, that there is great danger of losing the trade of the Argentine States. Other proofs could be cited were it necessary, to prove the superiority of the best class of California wines and brandy. Orders from responsible parties addressed to Wm. Scheffler, or Geo. H. Jessup, St. Helena, Napa county, Cal., will receive prompt attention.

Forewarned Forearmed.

Physicians and Invalids use with confidence Dr. Kaiser's celebrated German Elixir for Consumption and throat and lung diseases. It is rich in the medical properties of tar, wild cherry, etc. It is declared perfectly harmless to the youngest child. This would have proved an Angel of Mercy in the household of those unhappy parents at Vallejo, Dixon, Beaver, Utah and numerous other places, whose children were slaughtered by quack medicine recommended by its owner to cure croup, possessing no properties calculated to cure it, but instead a deadly drug which has slain its thousands. Be sure you get only German Elixir. The genuine bears the Prussian coat of arms and the fac-simile signature of Dr. Kaiser. Samples at all drug stores. Large size 75 cents.

Some of the wheat sacks from the Walla Walla country look like seives by the time they get here, and it is not much wonder, as they have passed through sixteen handlings to get here from the farmer's wagon at Walla Walla, as follows:

2. Warehouse to cars in Walla Walla.
3. Cars to wharf-boat at Wallula.

The Situation in New York.

[From the Alta California.]

In New York, the republicans elect the governor and legislature. Tammany hall having shown its power, will now put a veto on the nomination of Tilden for the presidency, plainly saying that, if nominated, he shall not carry New York. Tilden, on the other hand, will doubtless see that, if not nominated himself, the nominee shall not carry New York. From either point of view, New York is lost to the democracy: and without New York, they have not a shadow of chance to elect the president.

SUICIDE.

A distinguished Scientist once said: "No man with a strong, healthy stomach ever committed suicide, yet many suffer the torments of the damned with dyspepsia, when a single bottle of Dr. Mintie's English Dandelion Liver and Dyspepsia Pills will give relief, and, if persisted in, cure the worse case of this distressing trouble. This pill cures torpid liver, biliousness, sallow complexion, foul breath, sick headache, heartburn, pain in side and back, removes pimples from the face, regulates the bowels, is sugar-coated and guaranteed purely vegetable. It acts directly on the coating of the stomach and on the liver; is suited to any climate, wet or dry weather. Beware of imitations; genuine has cut of lion on outside wrapper. Price, 50 cents. Sold by all druggists. Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, wholesale agents.

How to Save Money.

Instead of going to a doctor, if you have Bright's Disease, Diabetes, pain in back and loins, smarting, inflammation, calculi, brick-dust deposit, or any trouble of the kidneys or bladder, buy a bottle of Dr. Mintie's Nephreticum, the great Buchu Compound. It is the best prescription ever compounded for these troubles. Abrams & Carroll, Wholesale Druggists, say: "We regard Nephreticum as the best Kidney and Bladder Remedy in the market." Woodward, druggist, Portland, Oregon, says: "Everybody speaks highly of it." Childs, druggist, Portland, says: "Sold lots of it; it always does the work." Many have been cured of obstinate kidney complaints after the doctors gave them up. Sold by all druggists. Price $1 25. Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, Wholesale Agents.

Sir Astley Cooper's Vital Restorative.

The great English remedy—has made more cures of Nervous Debility, Seminal Weakness, Lost Manhood, nocturnal emissions, lassitude, inability for mental labor, despondency, and such diseases as are induced by youthful follies and excesses, than all other medicines combined.

It is not a stimulant nor excitant, is perfectly safe to take, is not a quack nostrum, and produces results that are wonderful.

Price, $3 a bottle. Four times the quantity, $10. Buy a bottle. It will not disappoint you. Hodge, Davis & Co., wholesale agents.

By Universal Accord,

Ayer's Cathartic Pills are the best of all purgatives for family use. They are the product of long, laborious and successful chemical investigation, and their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, proves them the best and most effectual purgative pill that medical science can devise. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use. In intrinsic value and curative powers no other Pills can be compared with them, and every person knowing their virtues will employ them when needed. They keep the system in perfect order and maintain in healthy action the whole machinery of life. Mild, searching and effectual, they are specially adapted to the needs of the digestive apparatus, derangements of which they prevent and cure, if timely taken. They are the best and safest physic to employ for children and weakened constitutions, where a mild but effectual cathartic is required. For sale by all dealers. Hodge, Davis & Co. wholesale agents.

THE FLOODS IN SPAIN.

A Tropical Storm—How the Waters Rose Over the Murcian Plain—Terrible Devastation and Loss of Life.

[By Cable from London, Oct. 24, to the New York Herald.]

Full news has been brought to the papers this morning of the terrible floods that have devastated the valleys of the Mundo and Segura. Rarely has a more terrible story been narrated in modern times. Murcia is little known to travelers in Spain, for the Mediterranean steamers touch at Alicante, to the north of it, and at Cartagena, to the south of it, and the capital of the ancient kingdom and modern province of Murcia stands inland, on the Segura, half way between them. It lies in a plain dotted with cosey farm houses and green with drooping palm trees. The roads that lead to it, from Elche, run through the most tropical portion of the country. Dates hang in thick clusters, upon stem after stem, under their leafy screens. The underwood is composed of pomegranate trees, where the bright red fruit shines among the leaves or waves in bright festoons. The pale yellow clusters of the citron trees quaintly contrast with the vermilion pomegranates. The town is full of Moorish reminiscences. The architectural designs of its cathedral, the bas-reliefs and heavy stone statues in its passages, its horseshoe-formed windows, its slender spire, recall the days when the town was one of the chief Moorish possessions in Spain and was known as Mursiah.

BEFORE THE FLOODS.

The summer had been unusually hot. Even this torrid region had known no such heat for a generation. For months not a cloud had been seen; not a drop of rain had fallen. Blood-red skies blazed like a procession of torches. The very dust had not had power to raise itself from the road. The river had been, as the Spaniards say, bled, and to such a degree that its life seemed extinct. Carriages would drive along its empty bed, through banks of tall bamboos, and the bridges they should have passed over rose above them, like triumphal arches. On Tuesday last few people ventured into the streets during the daytime; but in the evening there was a general movement of carriages and foot passengers toward the Alameda, which stands high, and from which the view extends, over the river and the campagna, as far as the hills. Here all was life and animation. There were bare-legged Bedouins in their white burnooses, African Jews, in long embroidered kaftans, Spanish women in their becoming black mantillas and ladies of higher rank in bright colored shawls. Military music played and troops of children danced in circles, and the benches were filled with gossiping groups. The gaslights shone brightly under the dark trees. From the valley rose the sound of castanets and the thrumming of guitars.

A TROPICAL STORM.

It was about ten o'clock when the approach of the mistral, a cold and biting wind, was felt from the direction of Cartagena. The sky clouded over. In an instant there was a gathering up of fans and mantillas, and the crowd turned hastily homeward. The plaza was deserted. Soon the storm was howling over the town and amid the streets, and tore through the houses. It increased in violence every minute. The rain seemed to be falling in broad sheets of water. No such tempest had been seen within the memory of the inhabitants. Shortly after midnight the watchman was going his rounds, fighting his way through the blinding downpour, when, as he passed over the bridge that leads to the plaza and divides the town into two portions, he saw a black stream of water rushing between the arches. He found that the river was rising rapidly. It had already overflowed the banks and was stealthily climbing over the stone parapet which protects the frontage. The watchman knew that no time was to be lost. He hurried to a clock tower which gives signals of fire and of other catastrophes to dwellers by the water side and set the bell in motion. The note of warning was heard above the noise of the thunder storm. Instantly the inhabitants rushed into the streets. Few of them had time to do more than snatch up a little clothing. Down the main street rushed affrighted women: Bands of swarthy Gitanos swarmed from the gipsies' quarters. Peasants in their blue velvet jackets stood helplessly in the Glorieta (the principal promenade), too frightened to heed the violence of the storm. The authorities at once proceeded to organize assistance for that part of the town which was already lying beneath the level of the flood.

THE STORY OF AN EYE WITNESS.

"As we walked about," says one of the sufferers, "in that dark night, amid that deluge of rain, we could hear the distant roar of the water tearing past in the Segura, until low, rumbling crashes told of the inundation breaking into the streets." Suddenly all the gaslights went out. Then everybody knew that the flood was advancing. From street and square, from balcony and housetop came the cry, "The water is rising!" It was a fearful moment. The confusion was unparalleled. Through gardens, vineyards, and mulberry groves, the Murcians were pouring in a confused, struggling mass, all with the one idea of quitting the town and outstripping the flood. In the suburbs of San Benito and San Lorenzo, before half the people could get out of their beds, they had the water over the lower floors of their houses. The church doors were soon forced open by the flood, which went on its way laden with broken stools and altar ornaments, with vestments of priests and red tunics of choristers. It invaded the nunneries and hermitages, the oratories and convents, sweeping from their niches the carved images of saints. It poured into the cavalry barracks, where the soldiers could be seen running up and down stairs with their regimentals under their arms. It skirted the great Episcopal palace and the colleges of St. Fulgentius and St. Isidore. Many of the public buildings and institutes it spared, as it swept on to the railway station. Here it extinguished the lights and lamps that were burning on the bare ground outside, and carried away the small open-air buffets where fruit, drinking water and anisette were sold. It tore up the sheds and embankments, destroying telegraph posts and tearing up rails.

A TERRIBLE NIGHT.

"During this terrible night," said a townsman to the correspondent of the London Standard, "our authorities and, particularly, our admirable civil guards, worked with a will to rescue women and children. They had to work by such glimmering light as their torches would yield, and presented a weird and fantastic appearance as they moved to and fro through the water. Sometimes they were knee-deep; more often they were up to their waists in water. The gallant fellows waded into the submerged streets, seizing such fugitives as they met, half-drowned and frightened out of their wits, calming others who were screaming at the windows and encouraging those who rushed about wildly on the house tops, until boats, barges and even carriages could be brought into use and the inhabitants saved from abodes that were momentarily threatened with ruin. Several times during the night was heard the crash of falling houses and splintering timbers, and above the noise rose the wailing shrieks of unfortunate beings that could not escape, and were soon smothered in the ruins or in the torrent." Acts of extraordinary heroism were performed by the authorities, the boatmen and the civil guards. One guard five times braved the torrent, with the water up to his chest. Each time he came back with a child in his arms. Then he started back on his sixth voyage. He had left the mother in the house with a babe at her breast. He fought his way through the water, rather swimming than wading. As he neared the house he saw it totter. Before he could make another step it was gone, and mother and babe were swept past him on the bosom of the flood. Nor were the higher classes less generous in their efforts to save the drowning people. One nobleman in his carriage rescued them by dozens, until his horses, dead beat and half drowned, could no longer pursue the work of charity. And as fast as the rescued were brought in they were carried either into private dwellings or into the government house. The bishop opened his palace to several hundred, and set soup and wine before them.

NEXT MORNING

When the day broke, with a gloomy overcast sky, the Murcians almost forgot the horrors of the night as they gazed on the Vega (plain) which the day before had been a lovely tropical garden. As far as the eye could reach there was seen a level expanse of water. Where palm trees waved their fanlike branches, and pretty white villas lay amid bowers of orange trees, a swollen, muddy stream went hurrying along, carrying the debris of farms and cottages. Where vines grew as if woven over the ground, and the landscape looked like an enormous carpet, embroidered with every kind of fruit, dead animals and not a few human bodies were floating in the turbid tide. Villages and farms all shared the same fate. No intelligence could be obtained from the survivors, as the roads were impassable, the line of railway was for miles destroyed and the telegraphs had ceased to exist. While the townsmen were waiting for news from the country the scenes of distress were piteous to behold. Little nutbrown girls went weeping from house to house seeking their mothers, who had been drowned. Families there were which had not one member left to tell the tale of that night of terror. Patrols, civil guards and volunteers of all classes sallied out in carriages and tartanes or on horseback, and very soon returned to say that the retiring waters had left nothing but a thick coating of mud and detritus on the once cultivated Huerta, fruitful with vines and maize and love apples.

IN THE PLAIN.

Fra Alta Torre and Monduermas were a heap of ruins, from the midst of which rose the pointed spires of their churches and the gables of a few of the larger houses whose inhabitants had escaped by spending the night upon the roofs, drenched by the storm and surrounded by the angry flood. Benijain, Lorca and Carravaca suffered no less damage than the other villages of the plain. As for the hamlets of the Vega, they contained nothing but ruins of buildings and dead bodies. Within forty-eight hours 160 corpses had been brought in and laid by 142 others which had been taken from the riverside houses. In many parts of the Vega the stench was so great that neither the civil guards nor the authorities thought it prudent to attempt any exploration for the victims. The dead were placed, side by side, in a building set apart for the purpose. All day long the relations of those that were missing thronged the house of death, striving to recognize a familiar face. Some of the richer classes had already made preparations for the burial, and masked men were met hurrying along the streets and boys bearing crosses and flags with religious inscriptions. It was as though a plague had visited the town. Never had Murcia and valleys known such a disaster since the floods of 1801 and 1802.

EXTENT OF THE DAMAGE.

At Alicante, the chief commercial port of Valencia, the whole plain is covered with raging waters, which form a lake nearly thirty leagues in extent. The inundation passed over the enormous stone table in which, as in a mosaic, Alicante is inlaid; streamed through its damp arches, its half dark piazzas and narrow streets, and wrought havoc only second to that which ravaged the plain of Murcia. In fine the amount of damage is as follows: The villages of Monduermas, Fra Alta Torre, Aguerra, Alcantarilla and Larga have been swept away. Murcia, Orihuela, Lorca and Almeria have been partially flooded. Ten thousand inhabitants and one hundred families are destitute. The loss of property exceeds fifty million francs. The loss of life is at Lorca one hundred, at Orihuela eighty, at Murcia more than a thousand. These are the latest official returns. But it is feared that the total loss of life will exceed three thousand. The king has already visited the flooded districts and has subscribed fifty thousand francs toward the relief of the inhabitants.

The local money market is less active, but there is still a moderately large demand from the wheat movement. This is freely met, however, by the aid of importations and with tolerably free remittances from the interior, the supply of available funds is kept up to the wants of the general trade. Rates are not sensibly lower, but with the money at hand to meet the call for legitimate purposes, there is no general stringency and borrowers find that accommodations can be secured at about the same rates which have prevailed for several months past.

The banks of New York held a general meeting last month and adopted some resolutions which cannot but make their gold reserves more available hereafter. As our older business men will remember, there was a custom in vogue before the days of the war which saved the transfer of gold to a very great extent at least, and this former method has now been revived. One bank, in this case the Bank of North America, has been made the depository of all the gold the banks hold, and certificates are issued by this receiving bank to whatever bank deposits gold with it. These certificates may then be used for settling exchanges among themselves; and of course this plan retains the full use of the gold, while avoiding the carriage and risk. The Commercial and Financial Chronicle, discussing the probable effect of this movement, says that it will make gold as useful, because as convenient as either greenbacks or government certificates of deposit in settling clearing house balances. Heretofore these government certificates have been exclusively used in this settling business, nearly $21,000,000 of said certificates being in New York banks, and having no other use except that of currency between bank and bank.

The wheat trade was of rather more volume today, though buyers are still somewhat offish at over $1 90 per cental, at which figure very few extensive holders are willing to sell. The advance in tonnage is firmly sustained, and owing to the extensive deficiency of breadstuffs supplies in England and in some countries on the continent, most of the ships offering in the Pacific coast for loading this month or December are taken up more rapidly than usual. But ship owners are very firm in their demands, and stand out for about the highest current rates. The vessels in port and river here, numbering perhaps fifteen, are about all engaged, and still there is a very large quantity of grain in sight seeking transportation, while the vessels generally have their cargoes in hand. This state and Washington territory will need fifty more good sized ships besides those now at hand to carry away the entire surplus wheat of the last harvest.

Read and Learn for Yourself.

Many valuable discoveries and much useful knowledge is kept from the world, because of the immense expense in making them known to the people. This is not the case with BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP. Although but a few years introduced into this country, its sale now reaches in every town and village in the United States. Its wonderful success in curing consumption, severe Coughs, Pneumonia, Asthma and all other diseases of the throat and lungs, was first made known by distributing every year, for three years, over 400,000 bottles to the afflicted, free of charge, by druggists. No such a test of merit was ever given before to any other preparation. Could you ask more? Go to your druggist and get a bottle for 75 cents and try it. Sample bottles 10 cents.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

HAS RETURNED AFTER AN EXTENSIVE tour of the Eastern States, for the past four months. The Doctor while absent visited all the principal Medical Institutions in the large cities of the United States, and comes back with all the modern methods, instruments and appliances known to the most scientific men in the profession. The Doctor has also brought charts and manikins to illustrate his lecture.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN has been fifteen years lecturing on the Laws of Life and Health. In his private and public lectures he has taught men and women the true system of life, how to be healthy and happy, if they would only be guided by his wise cousel. But all cannot hear his delightful and instructive lectures, nor can he tell everything necessary for suffering humanity to know from the public rostrum before a promiscuous audience. There remains much to be learned from him as his experience extends over broad fields of active professional life. This knowledge so necessary to the welfare of the sufferer can only be gleaned by private Professional Consultation at his office.

His experience in the various parts of Europe and America give him such opportunities of learning the delicate diseases which the human family are prone to, their mode of treatment and permanent cure, as no other physician on the Pacific Coast can claim. He has not only treated these diseases most successfully, but has made them a life study, as a few moments' consultation will prove.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

IT IS TRUE

That persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Those who call in time upon DR PAUL M. BRENAN need have no fear but what he will restore them to perfect health and vigor, make their body pure and their mind content if they will only follow his advice and treatment.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure with certainty. No Quack Nostrums used, no deception, no false promises.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Consultation Free and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. All fine Surgical Operations performed.

KING OF THE BLOOD

THE MOST THOROUGH PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD YET DISCOVERED.

Cures all Humors, from a Common Eruption to the Worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the Stomach.

It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom; and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

ITS NAME IS ITS BEST DESCRIPTION, as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health, and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES, and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Mineral Poisons, and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and full directions for use, will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.

Price $1 per bottle, containing 12 ounces, or 40 to 50 doses. Sold by Dealers in medicine.
